The anticipation of the date of hoisting the flag on the new territory and the abandonment of the public ceremony that was to have attended it will have caused considerable public disappointment, not unmixed, perhaps, with some little amusement. The new territory has been taken nitended the event, and the public has been deprived of what was looked forward to as a pleasant little outing and an opportunity of indulging in an outburst of patriotic fervour. To-day will still be nominally observed as a public holiday, but there will be no fing-holsting ceremony, it having been found necessary to hoist the flag yesterday and assume sovereignty over the territory in order to suppress the opposition that was being arranged. The circumstances will no doubt give occasion for reflections on the little wisdom with which we are governed, and for gibes at official ineptitude.

For days past the opinion has been freely expressed that the ceremony arranged for to-day would not take place without a hitch. The mistake made by the Government was in engaging in building operations and relying upon the Chinese authorities for protection. Such a course was calculated to invite disaster and humiliation, and that these have not more serious than they have must be set down simply to good fortune. As soon as it was decided to commence the erection of police barracks at Taipo, a military guard should have been plend in charge. Had this been done the opposition would never have gained head. If for any reason it was deemed inexpedient to station troops in any part of the territory until it was formally taken over, then the erection of the police station should have been deferred until after the dag had been hoisted. In view of the subsequent events, the recent vigit of the Governor to the Viceroy of Canton to solicit the protection of Chinese" braves" for British officials of Bank notes in circulation and of specie in and British property boars an even more Sist March, as certified by the managers of undignified appearance than it did. at the time. When the Tsungli Yamon forwarded to Sir CLAUDE MAC-DONALD a desptach from the Viceroy of Centon enclosing proposed regulations for the new territory, the Minister, after formally acknowledging receipt of the despatch and reminding the Yamen of the Convention that had been entered into, "in which "all relevant matters were included in clear "detail," went on to say, " It is, therefore, "out of the question that the Governor-"General of Canton should be permitted to draw up regulations for the long of his "district. His action is quite uncalled for, "and his regulations are unworthy of consid- her destination on the 12th inst "oration." It was to this official, so: severely consured by the Minister for his uncalled for interference, that the Governor subsequently applied for protection. It may be remimbered that in October ligt a communication by a correspondent, who is now proved to have been in the main well informed, appeared in our columns, in which it was stated that the Provincial Authorities, while openly giving the instructions necessary with reference to affording the Hon. J. H. STEWART LOCK-HART facilities for the investigation be was then conducting, had given accret orders, probably instigated from Peking, to put all obstacles possible in the way of the tranfer

Mr. LOOKHART and his party having finished their survey and departed from the district, word went forth that the foreigners were going to dispossess the natives of their land, and that it would be necessary to raise money for the purchase, in Canton, of arms, to resist the encronchment of the foreigner when it took place; that in accordance with this programme a subscription had been raised amongst the population of the district, who feared the loss of their title to the land, and over $100,000 had been raised; and that all the rowdy characters in the surrounding district had been encouraged to take hand in the disturbance when it came off, on the taking ever of the territory. The result is now known. The elaborate ceremony that was prepared to mark the hoisting of the flag has had to be abandoned owing to the machinations of the Chinese officials.

The villagers of Taipo and the neighbourhood are not averse to the British occupation. The hostile force, whout a thousand strong, that fired upon the British on Saturday, was composed of Tungkun men, brought from many miles distance. They were not men fighting un der a mietaken impression that their interests were affected—as might have been the case with the local people-but were mere mercenaries. Whence did the money come to pay them, and who superintended its disbursement? To organise such a force and bring it from a dis tance, to supply the commissariat and uniform-for the men wore uniformmust have cost a considerable sum money. As already stated, a public subscription was raised for the purpose some programme were general, though it was admonths ago, but the movement could not have succeeded without official connivance and incitement. The fact that the men were in uniform has apparently led to the supposition that they were soldiers, but so that any disturbance could be promptly this we are inclined to doubt, as the employment of the regular troops would have fixed the officials with too direct a responsibility. The uniform worn will, we think, turn out to have been a specially-designed one, the idea being to subsequently represent the movement as a popular one over which the authorities had no control. Billy, daughter of James Buss, of Nottingham, to | Native report, however, has already mentioned the name of one official as being surreptitionsly connected with the affair, At the Cathedral, Shanghal, on Saturday, 8th namely, a Hanlin named Tang Yuan-KENG, the head-master of the Kwong Nga College, a school established at Canton by Chang-Chih-tung during the form of his vicerovalty and now supported TAN, the present Viceroy, under whose

.Considerable commotion was caused in the city yesterday morning by the issuing of the following express:

"Owing to unforeseen circumstances, the British Flag has been hoisted at Taipobu today. By Order, J. H. STEWART LOCKHART, Colonial Secretary. Hongkong, 16th April,

Notwithstanding the fact that in view of recent events it was considered not at all unlikely that a disturbance would take place, the expres-sions of regret at the cancelling of to day's mitted, when the circumstances became known, that the course adopted was the beat. It was recognised on Saturday that the opposition to the British occupation was gaining in strength rather than diminishing, and that it would be necessary to take every precaution On Friday afternoon Captain-Superintendent May went over to Taipohu in the T.-B. destroyer Fame. having with him 20 Indian constables, and P.C.'s Clarke and Garrod. On landing they found that the police quarters had again been burned down, and they also noticed a number of armed villagers - somewhere about a thousand -occupying a position on one of the elevations. As they were evidently bent on mischief, Mr. May and his party returned to Hongkong, and the matter was reported to H. E. the Governor. On Saturday morning Mr. May and the constables again left for Taipohn with tents and other materials to establish a camp until the matabeds were re-erected. A hundred men of the Hongkong Regiment, in charge of Captain Berger, marched over the bills to the same place. On their arrival the police were fired upon by a force numbering apparently about 1,000 men wearing the uniform of Chinese troops and occupying a neighbouring ridge. The fire was returned and several volleys were exchanged. During the engagement Cuptain Berger and his men appeared and the rebole gave them a similar greeting, which was promptly replied to. Then the torpedo-boat destroyer Fame, with Captain Long on board, hove up. Captain Long, taking over the command, ordered Lieuteuant Keys to land a party from the Fame and shell the rebel position.
